US 421 Bridge Replacement over the Ohio River

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) intends to let a design/build contract for the replacement of the US 421 bridge over the Ohio River between Milton, Kentucky and Madison, Indiana. INDOT has partnered with the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet to develop this project. INDOT will serve as the lead agency. As such, information regarding the project will be disseminated through INDOT.

The Indiana Department of Transportation has created a web page for pre-advertised contract information to be released to the general public before it is formally advertised.

<http://www.in.gov/dot/div/contracts/letting/contracts.htm>

This web page will allow users to view contract documents and support material for specific projects and express comments or feedback about those projects. Not all projects will be included on the pre-advertised web page.

DISCLAIMER:

By releasing these draft project documents, INDOT makes no representation as to if or when the project will be let or a contract for the project awarded. Further, the documents are in draft form and INDOT reserves the right to make changes without notice to these documents up until official advertisement of the Project. Contractors who choose to begin preparing to bid on the project using these draft documents do so entirely at their own risk.
